

Case Study - Solicitors

The Client	: A Law firm based in Central London
-------------------	--------------------------------------

Client Issues	: Internal part-time legal book keeper could not cope with the workload and was 6 months behind with the accounts. As a result, the firm had violated rules set by the Law Society by not adhering to keep the accounts at least 1 month in arrears and had incurred a financial penalty.
----------------------	--

In Partnership with Global Infosys	: Within 4 months GI ensured that the monthly legal book keeping was up-to-date. The client no longer violates rules imposed by the Law Society.
---	---

Outsourcing to Global Infosys	: "When inspecting the financial documents, The Law Society were impressed with the legal book keeping that GI produced on time" - comments made by the client after three months of GI's involvement.
--------------------------------------	--
